Surrey Pretrial expansion agreement signed

SURREY – The Province has signed an agreement with Brookfield Partnerships Surrey to deliver the new high-security Surrey Pretrial Services Centre Expansion (SPSCE) project. This 216-cell project will more than double the centre's existing capacity.

This expansion is the centrepiece of the Province's historic $185-million capital plan to expand correctional facilities and accommodate the growing remand population.

Construction is beginning this summer and is expected to create 200 to 250 construction jobs and about 500 person-years of employment over the project's anticipated two-year life. Upon completion, it will provide the equivalent of 130 new, full-time positions, including 100 front-line correctional officers.

Brookfield Partnerships Surrey entered into a fixed-price, performance-based partnership agreement with the Province to design, build, finance and maintain the SPSCE project over a 30-year operating term. All correctional services will continue to be funded by the Province and delivered by BC Corrections. The total capital value of the project is $90 million, with completion anticipated in late 2013.

The project will be designed to achieve Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design (LEED) Gold certification, the highest level of sustainability ever achieved in a correctional facility in British Columbia. Expected benefits from the design include an improved working environment for staff and lower operating costs over time as a result of reduced energy consumption and water use, abundant natural light and improved indoor air quality.

The project will also deliver numerous innovations in design and surveillance, providing a safer operating environment for staff and inmates.

Quotes:

Solicitor General Shirley Bond –

"The Province is taking action to meet the growing demand for correctional capacity with a $185-million capital plan, the single largest investment in our history. This state-of-the-art project will enhance the safety and efficiency of the centre's operations."

"Surrey Pretrial Services Centre has been a fixture in this community since 1991 and its expansion will support BC Corrections staff, policing agencies and the courts in their ongoing dedication to keeping our communities safe."

Surrey-Panorama MLA Stephanie Cadieux –

"This prison expansion will be a boost for our local economy by creating up to 250 construction jobs and the equivalent of 130 full-time positions. Not only will correctional capacity be increased at Surrey Pretrial Services Centre, but the supervision of offenders will be enhanced, resulting in an improved working and living environment for staff and inmates."

Surrey-Cloverdale MLA Kevin Falcon –

"As one of the first correctional centres in Canada to achieve LEED Gold certification, Surrey Pretrial Services Centre will continue to be an example to other jurisdictions in the years ahead."

"We aren't just creating more inmate space. We're ensuring our facilities are sustainable and providing the best possible conditions for staff to work with inmates and each other."

Surrey-Tynehead MLA Dave Hayer –

"It's vitally important to our community's safety that we keep pace with the growing demand for inmate space and ensure staff can continue to effectively deliver inmate programs. This project accomplishes both, more than doubling inmate capacity and also creating more jobs in both the short and long term."
